A REMINDER.

To Debilitated Persons,
To Dyspeptics,
To Sufferers from Liver Complaint,
To those having no Appetite,
To those with Broken Down Constitutions,
To Nervous People,
To Children Wasting Away,
To any with Debilitated Digestive Organs,

Or Suffering with any of the following Symptoms, which include Disordered Liver or Stomach,

such as
Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fullness, or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the heart, Choking or Flustering Sensations when in a lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pains in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c.; Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, & Great Depression of Spirits.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or Vital Principle of Roots, Herbs and Barks, (or as medicinally termed Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore, in one Bottle of these Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters, are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, where they are compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulents can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the Tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the Bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate and containing the medicinal virtue of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1.50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulent used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefitted by it will most certainly be cheated.

SPEAK FOR THESE REMEDIES.

Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

Hon. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1867.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in disorders of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours truly,
GEORGE W. WOODWARD.

I consider Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours with respect,
JAMES THOMPSON.

Hon. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania:

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD.

Hon. Wm. F. Rogers, Mayor of the City of Buffalo, New-York:

Mayor's Office, Buffalo, June 22, 1869.

I have used "Hoofland's German Bitters and Tonic" in my family during the past year, and can recommend them as an excellent tonic, imparting tone and vigor to the system. They have been productive of decidedly beneficial effects.
WM. F. ROGERS.

Hon. Jas. M. Wood, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pennsylvania:

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so weak as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of the Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. PODOPHYLLIN,

Or Substitute for Mercury Pills.

TWO PILLS A DOSE.

The Most Powerful, yet Innocent, Vegetable Cathartic known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these pills to produce the desired effect—two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels of all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it speedily from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all bilious diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and ex treme Costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system, while the Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels healthy with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can eyalis its hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist in Indiana you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH—PERFECTED.—E. T. H. J. CHANDLER have purchased the exclusive right of Beaver county to use Dr. Strick's Patent by which they can put up Vulcanite as this as Gold Plate, with a beautiful enamelled polish; and so light and elastic as to perfectly adapt itself to the mouth; obviating all that clumsy and bulky condition so much complained of heretofore; and lessening their liability to break 100 per cent. Indeed, no one can feel willing to wear the old style plate any longer than they could conveniently get them exchanged. All branches of Dentistry performed in the best and most substantial manner. In filling teeth with gold, etc., we challenge competition from any quarter, and can refer to living subjects whose fillings have stood between thirty and forty years. Among the number Hon. John Allison will cheerfully testify. We inserted some 33 years ago; the teeth as perfect as the day they were filled. Laughing Gas prepared on the premises. Call and see it. It frees all pain and danger from operations, making the extraction of teeth a source of pleasure rather than of horror and pain. Prices as low as any good dentist in the State. The Beaver Argus.

J. WEYAND, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Beaver, Pa., May 17th 1871.

GENERAL JAMES B. RUPLE ex-Assessor for the 24th District, and Hon. J. B. Donley ex-member of Congress, for the same, are "going for" each other, in the Greene county Republican. Which will whip remains to be seen. So far it seems to be "nip and tuck" between them.

GENERAL SHERIDAN, Mrs. Lincoln and her son Thaddeus, arrived in this country, from Europe on Tuesday of last week, on the Steamship Russia. Mrs. Lincoln has been absent from the United States for two and a half years, and during the most of this time her son has been at school—a portion of his time at Frankfort, Germany, and at London, England. The whole party are in excellent health.

DURING our absence from home last week several communications found their way into the columns of the ARGUS, containing matter with which we have no sympathy, and the publication of which caused us no little regret. Particularly is this true of a piece of poetry on the first page of the paper entitled "The Belle of Beaver." The writer of the lines referred to intended to wound the feelings of persons for whom we have the highest respect, and of course had we been at home, the manuscript would have been tossed into the stove, where it properly belonged.

"BRICK" POMEROY, who for years past, has been feasting on every bit of scandal he could gather up for publication, has recently become the subject of uncomplimentary gossip himself. He has it seems, not been leading the virtuous life his writings would indicate, for his wife a couple of weeks ago procured a divorce from him and twenty thousand dollars alimony, in the Circuit Court of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. When she commenced her action Mrs. Pomeroy employed General B. F. Butler as her attorney, and rather than let the case go to trial "Brick" consented to a compromise which gave her the divorce sought and the amount of money claimed.

THE Connecticut election case has at length resulted in placing the Republican candidate—Mr. Jewell—in the Gubernatorial chair. The Legislature of that State, on Thursday last declared Governor Jewell, and the remainder of the Republican ticket duly elected. This result came about by the unearthing of Democratic frauds in the Fourth Ward of the city of New Haven; five hundred and seventy-nine citizens of that ward swore before the Legislative Committee on canvass of votes, that they had at the late Gubernatorial election in Connecticut, cast their votes for Jewell, whereas the returns gave him one hundred votes less. This difference was sufficient to oust English and install Jewell as Governor; and it was done by a strict party vote in the Legislature. Will Democrats ever learn to conduct an election honestly? A few such lessons may be beneficial.

No man ever left the State Treasury Department with a better record for honesty and good management, than does General Irwin. Even his bitterest enemies cannot point to a single act of his as a public officer, that serves to throw a shade of suspicion upon his integrity. From among the great many complimentary notices in the newspapers he has received since his retirement from office, we clip the following from the Sunday Mercury of May 7th.

The retirement of this gentleman from the position of State Treasurer will be regretted by all who desire the good of the Commonwealth and the preservation of her credit. The hordes of vandals who generally flock around the State Capital, and have by the past fleeced the State out of hundreds of thousands of dollars, found no friend in the General; he was a stumbling block in the way of their operations, and as a necessary result, gained their hatred and enmity. By his judicious management and foresight as an officer, the State has been the gainer in at least one million of dollars, and advanced her financial standing. The General will retire with the good wishes of all good citizens—honored for his manly and honest administration of his responsible office as State Treasurer.

THE President seems determined to enforce the Ku-Klux law not only in letter but in spirit. The first arrests under it were made in Chatham county, North Carolina, on the 5th of May. On that day a squad of U. S. Soldiers, under Major Cushing, 4th Artillery left Raleigh and proceeded to Chatham county to aid the United States Marshall in arresting persons charged with a violation of the law here referred to. They returned the next afternoon with three young men, against whom there appears to be strong proofs of having been concerned in the following outrage on some white women: One night last week a party of disguised men surrounded the log cabin in which those women lived, in Chatham county. They commenced hallooing, and shooting at the house, completely riddling the door with birdshot and shooting several bullets into the house. They then burst in and severely beat two if not more of the women with sticks, and threatened to kill them and a small child belonging to one of them. After whipping a negro, they started off, leaving the unfortunate women in such a state of terror that they slept out in the woods that night. That men can thus debase themselves is unfortunately true, but that they can find men to uphold them in such conduct is hard to believe. Thus strengthened Mr. Mackey was sure of his election, but when the Legislature went to elect, lo! the result showed that Irwin was the strongest man, and the bitter disappointment he had experienced a year before was now fixed on Mackey. The third year in this singular contest has rolled around, and we have Mr. Mackey about to succeed Mr. Irwin. It is not often that the same incidents occur in political fight, and we refer, to them now for no purpose of reviving any of the bitter feeling elicited when they first took place, but merely to show there is many a slip between the cup and the lip.

When the time comes to separate from W. W. Irwin, as State Treasurer, all who know the man officially, will part with him with regret. From 1861, he has been well and favorably known as a Democrat, but the evidences of intimidation practiced upon the negroes were so glaring that the Governor would not give him a certificate, and the House seated the Republican. Last Fall, in an election which both parties acknowledge to have been fair, a Republican, Mr. Elliott was elected by 4,000 majority. This proves that 7,000 Republican voters were kept from the polls in 1868. I was entertained the other day by an account given by a man from Edgefield county, whom I heard addressed as "Judge," and who took me for a fellow-Democrat, of the way they had managed to keep the negroes from voting in this county. "You see," he said, we knowed how superstitious the niggers are, and how easily they are scared; so we sent to New York, and bought $500 worth of rockets, and the night before the election we sent a party of mounted men, masked, and with white sheets wrapped round them, to every cross-road in the county. It was just after dark, and they yelled as they went along so the niggers would see them, and when they got to the places we'd agreed on, they sent up the rockets. Next day not a d—d nigger dared come out to vote. They just stayed shut up in their cabins, thinking the judgment day was coming sure." In another county I was told that armed men visited the houses of the negroes the night before the election, and took away the ballots that had been distributed to them, so that, not being able to write tickets or get other printed ones, they could not vote the next day.

IT has been known to our readers that Senator Cameron, who succeeded Mr. Sumner on the Foreign Relations Committee, occupies a secondary position on that committee in regard both to the San Domingo and the High Commission treaties. The latter was considered in President Grant's Cabinet recently, and Simon was present. It is known that after that meeting Morton, of Indiana, took charge of the High Commission treaty. This fact is, more than likely, the foundation of the humorous story put afloat recently by the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, after the Cabinet meeting alluded to had adjourned. The writer says "it is reported that "Secretary Fish and Bancroft Davis "labored for two hours to give Cam- "eron an idea of what the High Com- "mission treaty meant; and at the "end of their explanations, asked "him if he understood it well enough "to explain it to the Senate and an- "swer any questions in regard to its "provisions which might be asked. "He replied that he thought he did; "but was of the opinion that the Al- "abama claims ought to be stricken "out, 'because,' said he, 'if the claims "of Alabama are paid, why not pay "those of Louisiana, Georgia and the "other Southern States?'"

The story has it that this was sufficient to decide the Administration that Cameron was not master of the situation, and that Senator Morton should assume the responsibility of laying the treaty understandingly before the Senate. This little episode speedily spread through the Senate, causing considerable merriment. It is but just to say that Cameron denies the truth of the report, and will explain to the Senate when opportunity presents that "he does know what the Alabama claims mean." It is, however, humiliating that a Pennsylvania Senator should be ridiculed, burlesqued and superceded on the score of ignorance or imbecility. If the report be untrue—and we believe it is—still the fact remains that Cameron was adjudged incompetent to take charge of the treaty, as was his duty by virtue of his being chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and made to "play second fiddle" to Senator Morton of Indiana.

THE Tribune's Washington correspondent telegraphed on Thursday last that there were very few who criticised the treaty of Washington as a whole, but the following are some points which will arise in debate: They will relate principally to the article which provides for the settlement of the claims of British subjects. Considerable surprise is expressed by Mr. Sumner and one or two others that the American Commissioners did not insist that Great Britain should submit a schedule of the claims of her subjects, so that it might be definitely known of what kind they are and what their amount, and will not include any of those to which the American public will object; and Earl Granville's letter to Lord Lyons about the claims of British subjects in France has been cited to show that there is no occasion to fear that they will be large. But the reply to this assurance is that we are not sure that England will abide by these precedents, and that it would have been much more satisfactory to have had these points definitely settled in the treaty itself.

To show that these claims may be very considerable in amount it is said that one million five hundred dollars is the value in the case of the Peterhoff alone, which was captured in Rio Del Norte, and condemned. Caleb Cushing is reported to have said within a day or two that this case has already been before the Supreme Court and that an opinion against the United States had been given. A law firm in Washington has six hundred thousand dollars of claims for tobacco captured on vessels which were a few hours late in getting away from Norfolk and other ports when the blockade was declared.

THE Democracy have been parading, for the last few days, some extracts from a speech said to have been delivered recently by Gen. Sherman, in which he is reported to have said that if the Democrats would only nominate a man who would pledge himself to veto all bills for the enforcement of the 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution, he would be elected by an overwhelming majority. Gen. Sherman has written a letter denying that he ever made such a speech, and says that he is not a candidate for any office, and will not be. Of course the Democracy will not believe the denial, but will continue to use the speech as a campaign document. Such is the character of the men who are now leading the Democratic party.

HERE AND THERE.

—Miss Kate Manning was found murdered near North Platte, Nebraska, Tuesday, having been shot twice, taking effect in the head and breast, with severe cuts about the head. The supposed murderers are now in custody.

—Those who look rather coldly upon Canada will be perhaps astonished to hear that she is the fourth maritime power in the world, and has 7,591 ships, with a tonnage of 889,090 tons. She stands ahead of every nation except Great Britain, the United States, and France.

—A Gallery in Sing-Sing prison, across which the men were marching to dinner, on Friday, gave way, precipitating over eighty convicts, some to the next gallery below and others to the stone-pavement forty feet beneath. Only two prisoners were fatally injured.

—The State geologist of California says that from the top of Mount Diabolo the broadest and most magnificent view in the world can be obtained. Not that it is the highest elevation in the world, but it commands a wider unobstructed view than any other—any view from the Alps being no exception.

—A Scranton telegram of the 10th says: The bodies of three murdered laborers were found this morning in a swamp near Buggs's Shaft. During the riot yesterday, when the laborers were routed, they fled into this swamp, followed by the infuriated miners, where these three men were beaten and kicked to death.

—In excavating at Yerba Buena Park for the foundation of the new City Hall, San Francisco, 28,000 ya.ds of sand have been removed. During the prosecution of the work many relics of early days were discovered. In one instance the body of a man, whose cloths contained "four aces and a king-full were discovered.

—"Common law in our mother lands wisely permits no butcher to sit on a jury, in any case of life and death." So says The Boston Courier, the editor of which is a lawyer; but we suspect that it would puzzle him to find any precedent or authority for the "common law" which is thus expounded by him. A popular error is hardly the "common law."

—It is openly charged in Paris that Cluseret, the adventurer who has set himself up as the Dictator of the Commune, has been paid by Louis Napoleon to foment and perpetuate civil war that the people may become so weary and disgusted with their country's troubles as to be willing to welcome back even the ex-Emperor for the sake of order and peace.

—The Savannah News, a Southern Democratic journal, expresses the following philosophic opinion of the Ku-Klux: "The Ku-Klux organization, or that which calls itself the Ku-Klux, is taking matters into its own hands, and quietly but firmly deposing obnoxious and incompetent office-holders." The same article in which we find the above sentence informs us that "the School Commissioner of Clarendon District, South Carolina, was killed (i. e.,) quietly but firmly deposed) on Saturday.

—A Philadelphia dispatch of May 10th says: A contest came off this morning between compositors for the prizes offered by the proprietors of the Printers' Circular for the swiftest type-setting. Geo. Arensberg set 1,877 ems, and Richard McLean 1,627 ems in an hour. The competition extends to compositors in other cities of the States and Canada, and takes place to day. The principal prize is a six-inch silver composing stick of solid silver.

—A letter dated San Domingo City, April 27, says: I should not be surprised to see a general uprising against Baez within a month. The same writer says: I have just learned from a source which satisfies me of the entire truthfulness of the statement, that Baez received from the Tybee an autograph letter from President Grant, assuring him of continued confidence, friendship, &c., and holding out the strong hope still for annexation.

—The City Attorney and City Marshal of Jacksonville, Illinois, passed through Peoria on the 10th of May with two prisoners, named John Lemons, alias Belden, and Steve McFeely, supposed to have been instrumental in the murder of Sharon Tyndale, Springfield. They were arrested, one near Bradford, Stark County, and the other at Princeton. The evidence is said to be strong against them.

—A gentleman gave the inmates of a horse-car in Boston a fine lesson in manners last week. There was plenty of room, but as nobody would move a little to give the new comer a seat, he quietly seated himself on the floor of the car? This broad hint was taken at once, and the floored man was kindly invited to sit up in the proper place. It is barely possible that the time may come when travelers will get the places which they pay for, but we do not expect it will come to-morrow, any more than the millenium.

—A farmer cut down a tree which stood so near the boundary line of his farm that it was doubted whether it belonged to him or to his neighbor. The neighbor, however, claimed the tree and prosecuted for damages the man who cut it. The case was sent from court to court. Time was wasted, temper soured, and friendship lost; but the case was finally gained by the prosecution. The last we heard of the transaction was that the man who gained the cause went to the lawyer's office to execute a deed of his whole farm, was compelled to sell, houseless and

Length of the Sessions of the Legislature for the Last 50 Years.

The following table will be of interest as giving the length of the sessions of the Legislature from 1811 to 1870. It will be remembered that from 1811 to 1839 the sessions commenced the first Tuesday in December of every year, and beginning with 1840, they convened the first Tuesday of January in every year. The table is only of interest as a matter of comparison in the time annually consumed in legislation:

The Exodus from Paris.

A Paris correspondent of the New York Herald, writing of date April 19th, says: The exodus from Paris continues on a very large scale. Some of the journals last week estimated the number of emigrants during several days at the rate of fifty thousand per diem. I do not consider that figure at all exaggerated, though, of course, the exodus was only so extensive on days when, from some cause or other, the panic was at its height. Nor do the fugitives belong to one particular class; that is to say, they are not confined to what is termed the upper ten; on the contrary, the bourgeoisie, as well as the poorer people, are alike eager on effecting an exit. Many of the latter have friends in the immediate neighborhood of the metropolis, and they see no reason for remaining in Paris. It is impossible for them to earn a living; in fact, they are worse off than during the siege of the Prussians. Provisions are getting scarce, and consequently obtainable only at extravagant rates. The country people refuse to come to market, and the few entering Paris are unwilling to accord credit to dealers and grocers. The latter, in their turn, demand cash from their customers.

A NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS.

Our Democratic friends in this city are placed in a sad plight, in a condition from which they must be rescued, or their association with the chivalry of the South will be forever cut off. It will be remembered that during the administration of the delectable Andrew Johnson, he swung round the circle, and while thus pursuing his winding way, tarried for a night in Harrisburg. Before his arrival, a Democratic majority in the City Council made arrangements to have the Presidential party sumptuously entertained at Bolton's hotel, and engaged hacks from our agreeable and courteous friend William Colder, that the distinguished guests might be conveyed from the depot to the hotel without fatigue of body or annoyance of mind. Mr. Bolton did his best—his wine vault and his larder were both opened to the appetites of the travelers and their Harrisburg friends. Drinking and eating were the order of the day and the pastimes of the night, and all went merry as a marriage feast, because, as it was then thought, the city would foot the bill. The reception was under the auspices of the city fathers, and of course, it was considered the people would pay. But alas for Democratic promises. They are not worth what they pretend to be, as Mr. Bolton has discovered by this time. He did his part of the reception like a prince, as he is, but about the time he offered his bill, for settlement, a business like Republican obtained an injunction restraining council from paying the bill. After waiting for several years for his money, Mr. Bolton brought suit against the committee of arrangements who had Johnson in charge, and at the trial on Wednesday the court instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendants. Bolton lost his account. He gave his wines, his meats, his tarts and his clean sheets—he illuminated his magnificent hotel, threw its parlors open to a wild Democratic mob, worked his servants on double time, and did the honors in his best style. He is a business man, and thought he knew what he was about. But he made a mistake. He ought to have sold for cash; as it is now adjudged when a council offer the freedom of their city to the President of the United States, receiving and entertaining him in the name of the people, the man who furnishes the carriages for the pageant, and the landlord who supplies the meat and drink to cheer the company cannot collect pay therefor. The people get the glory and the credit for hospitality; but no one pays the livery hire or the landlord's bill. It is a strange way of doing business, to say the least of it, and an exposition of justice which will put landlords on their guard. But will the Democracy of Harrisburg allow Mr. Bolton to be robbed in this style? And certainly Mr. Colder, a true Republican, ought not to be asked to furnish means for a Democratic glorification like that of receiving the gouty Andy Johnson and his bibulous fellow travelers.

WOODHULL & CLAFLIN'S WEEKLY is perhaps the most widely circulated of all the pronounced organs of the Woman Suffrage movement. We copy the following from its editorial columns not to insinuate that it fairly expresses the sentiments of the Woman Suffrage party, but that a large portion of that party intensely abhor the entire "Free Love" delusion. And yet, we must believe that the advocacy of Woman Suffrage has increased the number who uphold Free Love. But hear Woodhull & Claflin!

"Two dogs may hunt in couple with mutual help and advantage; and it is not, perhaps, very important whether one leads the other, or which leads, or whether the two go abreast. All this may change from time to time with increase of advantage. But chain the two together by their collars and they gather obstacles at every step, pulling at the same time and jerking upon each other, pulling each other's necks, blaming each other for the whole fault, and finally falling out by the way and fighting each other instead of pursuing their game (of life).

"Woman's Rights advocates should make the mistake of coupling that thing, the reform, with Free Love, and has had fourfold the exp... the United States.

In the second place, the machinery in use by the Waltham Company is far more perfect and varied, and as a result in the Watches are of far higher grade and of greater variety, and are placed in the market at much lower prices than any others, quality and style fully considered.

In the third place, the Waltham Watch is now a staple article, its reputation fully established, and, as a consequence, it is sold at less profit, than any others in the market.

COMMUNISM.

Free Love and Irreligion—The Programme of the Communal Party of France.

The Commune now controls Paris, notwithstanding the attempts of the Theirs Government to suppress their power. What is the Commune? What is its object? The following extracts are translated from one of their circulars, giving a general idea of the form of government they propose. At present it is important to our readers:

1. The active Socialist party, after overthrowing the present Government, that is to say, after having accomplished a political revolution, will proclaim that all descriptions of property are no longer personal, but national.

2. It will invite the immediate formation of industrial societies in every parish or township, and will publish reports drawn up by men familiar with the subject, showing what kinds of industry are indispensable in each particular district or country, and what parts of the country are most favorable, or the reverse, for any given occupation.

3. A certain period will be granted to every citizen to consider which working society he will join. It is the right, as well as the duty of every one to choose that kind of work which, taking into consideration his physical and mental capacities, will prove most beneficial to himself and to the commonwealth.

4. All persons who shall refuse to join one or other of the working societies, without assigning some valid reason, shall lose all rights of citizens. They will not be admitted to any of the public establishments which contain provisions destined to supply the wants of the members of the commonwealth. To such persons, houses, public dining rooms, railroads, postoffices and telegraphs, in fact everything will be closed. They will be absolutely deprived of the means of existence, and must decide either to work or die.

5. Each group of workmen will elect from its midst a public valuer or superintendent. This individual should be chosen by his fellow workmen on account of his energy, ability and superior knowledge of the details of his trade.

6. The duties of this superintendent will consist chiefly in regulating the supply of work, in taking account of its value, and the quantity performed by each member; also in negotiating between his society and the local office, to which every society in the district will have access, sending to it the product of their labor, and receiving from it everything necessary to supply the wants of their members.

7. A committee, composed of members elected by every working society, will regulate, in its own district, the supply of labor, and develop the natural or acquired advantages of the locality. It will receive all the goods produced by the industry of each society in its district, classify them, and distribute them according to the wants of the community, or, in the event of a surplus, send them to other districts to form material for a new organization.

8. The committee will publish at regular intervals reports of the work accomplished by each society, and of the sum total of the products and consumption of each member for a given period, in order to show clearly the profit or loss that each member brings to the commonwealth.

9. The above mentioned reports will also serve to enlighten the citizens in regard to the election of agents and public functionaries of every description, and also to regulate the course of all kinds of labor, and show what changes are required in any department of industry.

10. All the public institutions, as well as the dining rooms, sleeping rooms, schools, hospitals, libraries, telegraphs, roads, railways and posts shall be placed under the administration of local bureaus.

11. All the public works of the locality, such as the making of roads and railways, public buildings, etc., and the cleansing and keeping of them in order, shall be under the management of the principal bureau.

12. All kinds of labor which require physical force only, without any special technical knowledge, shall be performed in rotation, by the members of each section.

13. The principal bureau will also be charged with the education of the children, for which purpose special buildings will be erected, in which physical and mental training alike shall be inculcated. Up to a certain age, hereafter to be decided, the children shall not be taken in hand by the Communal sections.

14. Parents who wish to undertake personally the education of their children shall have the right to do so; but this shall not exempt them from the obligation of working a certain number of hours every day.

15. As a general rule, when the members have completed the fixed number of hours for work each day, they can occupy themselves in any way they like—in doing nothing, in out-door recreation, in visiting the public theatres or concerts, scientific lectures, etc.

16. Any person desirous of devoting all his time to scientific researches or discoveries, shall present to the local bureau a statement of his project, and if it is found feasible and likely to be useful to the community shall confer upon the author the right to retire from his working section. He shall also be provided with the means necessary for the accomplishment of his undertaking.

17. Having acquired the right of devoting himself to a special occupation, the author of the project shall present regularly to the bureau full reports of his undertaking, which shall be published.

18. In this way the bureau is placed in constant communication with all the skilled artisans, engineers, inventors and learned men in the country, and receives reports and suggestions calculated to increase the well-being of the community. The bureau will elect from its members directors of public works and special functionaries of each department.

19. The number of working hours each day shall be regulated by the natural conditions of the locality, the climate, the season of the year, and the greater or less expenditure of strength required in any given kind of labor. Exceptions, of course, will be made in the case of sick and weak persons, and also in other cases which may as yet be unforeseen.

20. All the rights, duties and institutions emanating from the present condition of things, all the infamies of jurisprudence, of police and of religion, have no place in the new social order. All affairs and undertakings, without direct value for the commonwealth, have no foundation, except reciprocal consent and confidence in the person with whom the agreement is made. Legal or political guarantees, such as are made by thousands in the present state of things, will not be recognized in the regime. Contracts between groups and individuals will have no right to the protection of the bureau.

21. The relationship between the two sexes shall be entirely free. So soon as a mutual understanding exists, the man and woman can marry or re-marry as often as they like. The education of children, as mentioned before, is intrusted to the State.

22. These fundamental principles of the "Commune" can be carried out only when a political revolution, secretly and secretly prepared, shall have become successful. The social order will become an accomplished fact first of all in those great cities from which emissaries have been already sent to propagate the Commune, and to dispel the ignorantia of the masses.

CROP PROSPECTS.

—The Greenville Argus says: The heavy frosts of Sunday and Monday last have destroyed the fruit crop in many places.

—The Clearfield Journal says: The rain the latter part of last week was in good time. Grass and other growing crops are springing up rapidly in consequence. A good harvest is anticipated.

—A correspondent writing from Connellsville says: The late frosts do not appear to have injured the fruit much in this part of the county. Peaches, apples and cherries appear plenty. Grapes look like producing abundantly.

—The Erie Gazette says: From personal observations in Erie and Crawford counties we are able to say that the wheat crop looks better than in any season for the past fifteen years, and the yield will probably be equal to the best in any section of the Union.

—The Tuscarawas, O., Advocate says: Frost paid us a visit on Saturday and Sunday nights, seemingly determined to destroy the fruit if possible. On Saturday the early potatoes were nipped close to the ground, and on standing, shallow water, ice was formed a quarter of an inch thick. On the hills, we are informed, the fruit is very little damaged, but on the low lands considerably injured. The green wheat fields present a very handsome and promising appearance at this time.

—"The Uniontown Standard" says: The cereals promise an uncommonly large harvest. Wheat is exceptionally heavy on the ground, and remarkably vigorous, being green and healthy beyond all precedent, while the oats crop, under the stimulus of the recent showers, is looking up amazingly, and the prospect now is that a heavy yield will reward the labors of the husbandman. The potato, now generally up and growing finely, shows a very vigorous stalk, and gives assurance of early maturity. Taking everything into consideration the prospect for an abundant harvest of all kinds was never better.

—The Ravenna (Ohio) "Press" of the 11th inst. says: A severe frost visited this region on Sunday night. On Monday morning the grass blades on the low lands were frozen stiff, and ice was formed on water standing out in vessels. The same was repeated on Monday night, only a little more so. The strawberries have suffered considerably, and the early potatoes have been nipped. It is thought, that the fruit though somewhat injured, has not been entirely destroyed. Another big frost, or freeze, occured on Tuesday night. It is not supposed that it did the fruit and early vegetables an good.

The Methodist Book Concern.

From the New York Sun.

The Christian Advocate of Richmond, a journal belonging to the Methodist Church, makes an interesting statement regarding the frauds in the Methodist Book Concern in this city. This statement sheds a good deal of light upon what has hitherto seemed mysterious—we mean the promptness and zeal with which the journals of the Methodist denomination have generally attempted to palliate and conceal the frauds, and to depreciate the services which Dr. Lanahan has rendered in bringing them out. The observations of the Christian Advocate are as follows:

"There will yet be a vast amount of trouble over this case, and yet the case will never fully be given to the public, unless it be done by the secular press. The reason is obvious. Nearly every official paper of the Northern Methodist Church has an editor fishing for a bishopric. Long expects it go does Crary, and Nesbit, and Wiley; they must in this strife be perfectly conservative, or stake their chances. This simple fact of these editors running pell-mell after this position is the cause of the Methodist scandal—having a blinder put over the eyes of the Book Concern."

If this be true, it affords a new instance of mistaken calculation. A selfish purpose often overreaches itself, and such will be the result in the present case. The truth respecting these frauds is bound to be fully established, in spite of every attempt to hide it. The Methodist rank and file are resolved to know the facts. The great body of that denomination, who have no expectation of ever becoming bishops, cannot be deluded about a subject in which they are so deeply interested. We dare say Dr. Lanahan will be a bishop before either Lore, Curry, Nesbit, or Wiley arrives at that distinction. The Church will in due time understand that his services in this matter are as praiseworthy as his character and motives are elevated and honest.

Tragic Death of a Murderer.

Recently a man named Grant committed a murder at Demarara, W. I., whence he escaped to Halifax, N. S., where he was arrested and put on board a vessel to be returned to Demarara for trial. On arriving in sight of his destination the prisoner jumped overboard, and was immediately seized and devoured by sharks. The Halifax Citizen gives the following particulars: On the passage, although closely watched, he on one occasion obtained possession of a knife, with which he attempted to open his cabin window in the night, but the attempt was discovered and frustrated. On the morning of the arrival, when the vessel was within four miles of the lightship, he feigned an excuse to go on deck. Mr. Joseph sent Christian with him, and gave the officer strict injunctions to keep close hold of him. From the testimony the seaman Christian seems to have endeavored faithfully to fulfil his instructions, but was thrown off his guard by a sudden rush from Grant that he would do some trifling service, and relaxed his attachment, when Grant, [illegible] station, instantly [illegible] vessel was [illegible] but

Mr. Isaac Beatty, near Black Hawk, has recently suffered a severe loss from the destruction of his dwelling house and barn by fire while absent from home. Keep your Discharge Papers.—Soldiers are advised not to sell or part with their discharges, which are in active demand in the West. The new law of Congress so modifies the requirements of the Homestead act that a soldier or sailor who served ninety days or more during the rebellion, may deduct his term of enlistment from the five years settlement hitherto required to perfect his title. For instance, if he served three years in the army or navy, he may acquire a full title to a quarter section of land by a residence of two years. There is evidence that the sharks are preparing to wring dishonest fortunes out of the law.

He is a gentleman of fine attainments, excellent character, and the fact that he is urged to remain on the Bench by the lawyers of both parties, shows that he makes a capital officer.

In addition to clothing, they keep a choice selection of gentlemen's furnishing goods, suited to the times and season.

DENE HOLLOW.—This is the name of a new Story, by Mrs. Henry Wood, the celebrated author of "East Lynne," just begun in the Philadelphia SATURDAY EVENING POST. It is a story marked by the usual characteristics of Mrs. Wood—combining great interest and power with the teaching of a moral lesson. THE POST also contains numerous other stories, great care being taken not to admit anything into its columns which would be unsuitable for family reading. THE POST, though now approaching its fiftieth birthday, still manifests all the vigor and sprightliness of youth. Price, $2.50 a year. Single numbers for sale by newsdealers. Price six cents. If the newsdealers should not have it, inclose the money to the publishers, H. PETERSON & Co., 319 Walnut street, Philadelphia, who will send the numbers by mail. By inclosing one dollar, all the numbers containing Mrs. Wood's story will be forwarded as soon as issued.

Freight and Ticket Agent Appointment.—Capt. M. R. Adams, formerly of this codnty, but now residing in Somerset county this State, has been appointed Freight and Ticket agent, at Garrett Station, on the Pittsburgh & Connellsville R. R.

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.—In another column of to-day's paper will be found the advertisement of Mr. F. A. O'Leary, of 148 Federal street, Allegheny City, Pa., in which he announces that he has on hand a large stock of Children's Carriages, Ladies' Satchels, Fancy Baskets and Notions; in fact everything to be found in a first-class variety store. Mr. O'Leary is selling his goods at reasonable prices, and those of our readers who are in want of anything in his line, will do well to give him a call.

ALWAYS remember, if you want to get the value of your money, go to a live place, where they sell and get new goods in all the time. This is the clothing store of R. Steinfeld, who is crowded now with orders for fashionable suits, and therefore is obliged to renew his stock almost every week. Backed as he is by one of the best cutters in the country, he can promise every one a neat garment.

LADIES, keep your eyes open when some of those traveling agents want to force inferior machines upon you. You can get, at the same price, a well tried, noiseless, new improved Singer Machine, of which M. Schiff has the agency. It is remarkable that whoever gets a Singer Machine generally recommends it to their neighbors. This is the reason so many of these machines are sold without any extra effort, or the usual tricks which have to be used to dispose of most of the other machines.

GENTS, do you want to have your wives and daughters run a light, noiseless running sewing machine? The Elliptic is for sale by S. & J. Snellenburg.

Runaways and Reality of the War.—We take the following from the Cecil county, Md., Rising Sun:

MARRIED.—On Tuesday, May 9, Mr. WILLIAM BONSAL, of Cecil county, to Miss REBECCA WASSEY, of Winchester, Va.

"The lady who united her fortunes with Mr. Bonsal is the same who gave the information to General Sheridan which led to the battle of Winchester, on the 17th of September, 1864, and the total defeat and route of Early's army. After the war, Gen. Sheridan presented her with a valuable gold watch, as a token of his regard for her unflinching heroism and loyalty.

"Soon after this action of Sheridan's had brought the valuable services which Miss Wright rendered to the Union cause prominently before the country, she obtained a place in the Treasury Department at Washington, which she has now left to embark upon the sea of matrimony.

"Miss Wright, with her mother, kept a boarding house in Winchester during the war, while the town was occupied by Union troops. They were all well known and universally esteemed by the officers and soldiers of the Federal army, both for their excellent character and whole-souled devotion to the Union cause. They were members of the Society of Friends, and in Virginia a rebel Quaker was as scarce a thing as a white blackbird.

"We join with every true-hearted Union man and woman in the land in wishing to this lady, and the companion to whom she has entrusted her happiness, a long, prosperous, and happy voyage to a safe and pleasant destination."

THE CARPET BUSINESS.—Mr. B. Mulheim does a thriving business in the carpet line. During the month of April, this year, his sales in carpets alone, reached the snug sum of $1,500.

Mr. B. Mulheim, in Bridgewater, is the agent for Cheney's patent window Shade Fixture, which is decidedly the simplest and handiest arrangement for adjusting window shades we have yet seen. Persons overhauling their windows just now should examine this patent before hanging their shades.

Mr. B. is also the agent for the Salem Patent Steel-spring Shade Roller, another decided improvement in hanging shades.

BALLOU'S MAGAZINE FOR JUNE.—Ballou's Magazine for June has appeared with a list of contents which will tempt the most indifferent of literary epicures. There are some twenty-six different articles in the June number, some of them handsomely illustrated. The great tale of the season, however, is "The Old Clerk's Secret," written for Ballou's by Levi Beardsley, esq., the late special agent of a Washington department, and who has produced a wonderful story, full of incident and plot of Washington life. But all of the stories in this number are good, and there is a lot of them—"The New King and Queen of Spain;" "Madrid and its people;" "Scenes of the Revolution;" Neufchatel, Switzerland," "The Wounded Indian;" "The Harlem Bridges;" "Odessa, Russia;" "A Leap in the Dark;" "The Coquette;" "The Old Clerk's Secret;" "Tired;" "The Flower of the Family;" "Words—an Invocation;" "Endicott;" "Ebbed;" "Umphaqua River;" "A Contrary Fit;" "An Adventure in Behring Sea;" "The Demon Page;" "Camille;" "The Rose and the Bee;" OUR YOUNG PEOPLE'S STORY-TELLER—"Guess: or, The Son of a Politician;" "Hilary's Pony;" "An Adventure in the Pennsylvania Mines;" "The Housekeeper;" "Facts and Fancies;" "The Baseball-man's own Manual"—Humorous Illustrations. Terms, $1.50 per year, or 15 cents single copy. For sale all over the country. Address Thomas & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston.

NORMAL SCHOOL.—The short Normal Term of New Brighton Seminary, will begin July 5th, 1871. Teachers or others, wishing information as to the Studies, Lectures, Expenses, &c., will receive circulars by addressing the Principal, N. R. Johnston, New Brighton, Pa.

DECORATION DAY.

Circular from Headquarters.

Gen. A. R. Calhoun, commanding department of Pennsylvania Grand Army of the Republic, has issued the following circular from headquarters, in Philadelphia, relative to the observance of Decoration Day:

COMRADES: The 30th of May has been set apart by the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic as the day in each year when the army of the living is to meet in their silent camping ground the army of the dead. I know that in every spot in this department where a Union Soldier sleeps a loyal heart will be found to do him honor, and with willing hands strew in the patriot's grave the first spring flowers of the land he died to save and regenerate.

The Grand Army of the Republic has taken upon itself the duty of conducting, wherever there is a Post, the memorial services on Decoration Day It is requested that every comrade attend on the 30th inst., and give one day to the comrades gone before. The militia and other organizations should be invited to participate, as well as the citizens, to whom as soldiers we owe so much. Ask that the Schools in your vicinity be closed for the day, that the children may join with you and learn lessons of patriotism near the soldiers' graves.

It is necessary to fully record the names of all soldiers, sailors and marines buried in the cemeteries you decorate, with full particulars of service and death, and transmit the same to the Assistant Adjutant General at Reynolds. You will find accompanying a form for Decoration Services, which whenever practicable, you will strictly follow.

—In obedience to the above order, Post 204 G. A. R., Beaver, Pa., gives to the ex-soldiers and citizens of the neighborhood a cordial invitation to meet with them at their Hall, over Mr. Thos. Allison's store, on Thursday evening of next week, (May 23) to adopt such measures as may seem necessary to strew with flowers the graves of the dead soldiers who are buried in the two cemeteries near Beaver.

J. WEYAND,
Post Commander.

W. H. Marshall's Marble Yard in Rochester, this county, will repay a visit to those wishing anything in the line of tombstones, monuments, mantels, or other useful and ornamental work in marble. His establishment is by all odds the largest and most extensive in Beaver county; and his workmen first-class artists. Mr. Marshall is a courteous and urbane gentleman, and sells his work at reasonable rates. We cannot see the propriety of sending our money abroad for articles which can be procured at home—in all respects equal if not superior in execution and quality of material—for the same amount of money. Such a course is ruinous to the prosperity of the community in which we live. We see Mr. M. keeps a superior lot of grind stones, with new style of fixtures for hanging them. Let him be patronized.

WE take pleasure in directing the attention of our readers to the reliable house of Messrs. Boggs & Buhl, No. 128 Federal street, Allegheny, where can be found a select and complete stock of Silks, Poplins, Shawls, Gloves, &c., at attractive prices. See card in another column.

BEAVER FALLS, May 8, 1871.

EDITOR BEAVER ARGUS—Sir:—Please publish in your paper that I hereby decline being a candidate for nomination for Associate Judge at the coming primary meetings.

Yours Respectfully,
A. G. MCCREARY.

The small pox in the vicinity of Enon Valley is abating, and the spread of the disease is no longer apprehended.

THE public of Beaver and adjoining counties are hereby notified that if they want neat fitting, fashionable cut clothing, to call at S. & J. Snellenburg's, and let Cully, the cutter, cut you one of the latest.

The people of Beaver borough and vicinity who are in the habit of visiting Allegheny and Pittsburgh will profit by paying attention to the recent change in the time table of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad. It will be seen that the morning trains start from Beaver east nearly an hour earlier than formerly.

The Greenville Argus says: We are again called upon to chronicle another death from the careless use of kerosene oil. At the Brookfield coal mine a few days ago, a little girl aged eight years, and daughter of a widow named Biren, attempted to make the fire burn by pouring oil on it from a can, which exploded and set her clothes on fire, and before the flames could be extinguished she was so badly burned that she has since died, after untold suffering.

Bloody Tragedy.—"A Boy of Seven Murders a Companion of Thirteen." Money the Object.—From the Somerset Herald of [illegible] we learn the following [illegible] which occurred [illegible] 19th ult. [illegible] our town [illegible] excitement [illegible] that had been [illegible] below Lowe [illegible] of Wi[illegible] Lord Wellington, [illegible] one of our respectable citizens, James Marshall, esq. About six o'clock in the evening, the report came to town that young Marshall was lying dead by a bridge near the residence of Henry Metzler. In a few minutes from one to two hundred men and boys started for the spot, and found the report to be too true. The boy was lying on his back, pierced through the breast by a ball, having a five barreled revolver by his side with every barrel charged. A jury was at once impannelled, an inquest was held, the verdict being that Marshall had come to his death by a pistol shot from an unknown hand. The facts were afterwards learned that Lord Wellington had stolen the five dollars, with which he had purchased the revolver, that he and young Marshall had been shooting mark the greater part of the day, and Shaffer confesses that he demanded of Marshall some money, and that on refusing, he had shot him. The next morning after the horrible affray, Shaffer's pistol was found in a field near by and Marshall's pocket book but a few yards further on. It is generally believed that he killed him for his money, and it is thought that his original intention was to shoot Jim Acres, one of the bosses on the railroad, with whom he had some little difficulty. Young Shaffer is a youth of about sixteen, who had been brought up without having any of those Christian influences brought to bear upon him, which go so far to make the character of the youth. He has scarcely the knowledge of right or wrong, and to show the total ignorance of the boy, he inquired of the officer who had him in charge, and while conveying him to prison, if they would hang him, "for," said he, "if they will I want to send for a preacher and get religion!"

New Brighton Items.—Rev. Henry Genever, Episcopal Clergyman in charge of the churches of that denomination in Rochester, New Brighton and Beaver Falls, proposes visiting the West Indies soon, and will therefore close his relations with those congregations on the 21st inst. He intends to sail from New York for St. Thomas on the 23d. He will carry with him the kind solicitations of his numerous friends in this locality.

—On Wednesday afternoon last, a young son of Capt. G. S. Barker, and another lad, were thrown out of a buggy, but not seriously injured. The horse took fright at a fractious steer being led past, and leaped a six foot wall. The buggy was found "lying around loose," after the horse made his leap: but the horse ate grass.

—Gen. Neal Dow all the way from the State of Maine, delivered a temperance lecture in the M. E. Church, on Friday evening last. He was a Brigadier General in the Union army; a Libby prisoner, with a prospect of hanging for stealing "American Citizens of African descent;" and was finally exchanged for Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee of the rebel army.

He censures the Christian and moral portion of the Community for their apathy in temperance matters—said they could triumph if they would; gave a history of the origin and enactment of the "Maine Liquor Law," said it was not a failure. On the whole, his lecture was interesting. He is an eloquent lecturer. I. N. Pierce, of Philadelphia made a speech on the same subject.

EVERY one declares that they always paid 15 cts for ladies' hose for which M. Schiff charges only 10 cts per pair. He also offers extra great bargains in laces, lace collars and shawls. His stock in dress goods this season is really the best selected and cheapest ever offered in this town, and ladies surely stand in their own light if they do not go there before they purchase elsewhere.

The Baltaman's Journal of Clearfield says: Sufficient rain fell the latter part of last week to make a good rafting flood in the river, and, as the result, a large number of rafts passed this place on their way to the lower markets. We hope our lumbermen will use every effort to get their timber to market now, otherwise they may fail to do so this season.

William Quinten, an old German resident of Blacklick township, Cambria county, and a turner by occupation, had his skull fractured in a somewhat singular manner on Thursday afternoon last, and his injuries, it is feared, will prove fatal. He was engaged at the time in gumming a saw at the turning lathe, when the horse which operates the lathe became frightened at something and set the machine in such rapid motion that it caused the emory stone he was using, to fly into pieces, one of which flew up and struck him on the forehead with such force as to crush in the skull and inflict injuries from which it is not likely he can recover.

Pension Attorneys.—A new circular has just been issued by the Pension Bureau in relation to the fees to be paid to attorneys under contracts to obtain pensions from the Government. Under the act of Congress fixing the scale of fees for pension attorneys in cases of unusual labor, additional compensation may be received when the contract between the parties has been first approved by the U. S. Commissioner of Pensions. When this law went into effect, Commissioner Van Aernam issued a circular giving a scale of fees for the different classes of work at which he would approve contracts made between the attorneys and claimants of pensions. This schedule has long been objected to as fixing too low a remuneration, and Acting Commissioner of Pensions Travitt has modified the fees giving a compensation to the attorneys which is somewhat more liberal.

The Republican County Convention of Venango county met at Franklin on Monday. The following ticket was placed in nomination: Assembly, J. D. McJunkin: Associate Judge, R. S. McCormick; County Treasurer, N. B. Riddle; Sheriff, C. S. Marks, District Attorney, James H. Smith; Commissioner, James P. Riddle; Auditor, W. R. Gilliland; Coroner, J. S. Hooten.

The Brookville, Jefferson county, Republican says: On Monday morning last, Samuel Jordon, a farmer residing in Oliver township, most horribly murdered his wife, literally chopping her to pieces with an ax. It appears that Mr. Jordon and his wife, a daughter of Mr. David Henry, were pursuing the usual routine of chores about the farm, and no visible change was apparent in the manner of Jordon, until he suddenly took up the ax from the wood pile in the yard and dealt her several blows, causing almost instant death, the head being nearly severed from the body. Jordon's brother was present and saw the act committed, but was unable to prevent the horrible tragedy. After committing the deed he endeavored to cut his own throat with the axe, but was only successful in inflicting a severe wound. Yesterday he was brought to town and confined to jail, to await the disposition of the Court. We are informed by those acquainted with Jordon since childhood, that he was a smart, industrious and honest young man, but for sometime he has shown signs of insanity, but not until the present has he been violent or disposed to act viciously. Both parties, the murderer and the murdered, belong to the most respectable families, who deeply feel their sad affliction.

The ticket and express office at the West Middlesex station, Mercer county, was entered on the night of the 5th inst., and tickets to the amount of $125 were stolen. Fortunately, the thieves were discovered, but made their escape, before "going through" the safe owned by the Union Express company, which was in the office. As yet, no arrests have been made.

Masks.—If we could read each other's hearts, we should be kinder to each other. If we knew the woes and bitternesses, and physical annoyances of our neighbors, we should make allowances for them which we do not now. We go about masked, uttering stereotyped sentiments, hiding our heart-pangs and heart-aches, as carefully as we can; and yet we wonder that others do not discover them by intuition. We so conceal our best feelings from the light; we do not so conceal our resentments and our dislikes, of which we are prone to be proud Often two persons sit close together with "I love you," in either heart, and neither knows it. Each thinks, "I could be fond; but what is the use of wasting fondness on one who does not care for it?" and so they part, and go their ways alone. Life is a masquerade, at which few unmask

Mrs. A. S. BENCE.—Having opened this day a Millinery and Trimming Store on my own account, in my former residence, Third street, Beaver, next the U. P. Seminary, I would respectfully ask my old customers and the public generally for their patronage. I will try by courtesy and fair dealing to gain the good will of all who patronize me. Give me a call.

There was a large sale of town lots in the village of Leetonia, Ohio, on Monday of last week. A train of thirteen cars left Pittsburgh of the morning of that day, free to excursionists who wished to attend the sale; and they were crammed to their utmost capacity with passengers—even the platforms were crowded with people.

A man named David Crum, who believe, of Palestine, Ohio, was dangerously if not fatally injured by being knocked off the steps of the platform, in coming in contact with a projecting fence, near Leetonia.

The lots for sale were located in a beautiful plain on the south side of the town. The average size of lots were about 25 x 110 feet. Prices of sales ranged from $240 00 to 400 00; and they went off like "hot cakes in a hungry crowd." There were over one hundred lots sold, aggregating between twenty and thirty thousand dollars. The persons in attendance were estimated to be from two to three thousand.

Altogether, they had a grand time. Several persons from Beaver, Rochester, and our neighboring boroughs, were in attendance.

LADIES do you want a sewing machine? If you do, see the Elliptic Lock Stitch before you purchase.

"Let There be Light."

HARRISBURG, May 12, 1871.

EDITOR BEAVER ARGUS:—It is time for some things to be told to the great outside Republican public. You have observed that Governor Geary refused to sign the Apportionment Bill and it has become a law by lapse of time. He was unable to see anything in it but a bill of sale to the Democracy, and so he could not lend it the sanction of his signature.

Now for a very brief history of it, and its connection with Mackey's election to the State Treasurryship:

The stress upon the Cameron ring (and which they have borne for the year of Irwin's administration), demanded the election of Mackey at any cost to the Republican party. To secure this election it was necessary to hold the Democratic vote powerless against Mackey and prevent a repetition of the arrangement which elected Irwin.

The ring therefore went into secret negotiations with "Coffee-pot" Wallace, Democratic Speaker of the Senate. They contracted with him that if the Democrats would allow Mackey to be elected Treasurer, they would give the Democrats the advantage in the Apportionment of the State for Members of Assembly. The contract was entered upon and the harmony between the contracting parties perfected.

Mackey was elected and the ring proceeded to fulfil their part of the agreement. It was arranged that Rutan was to be put upon the Senate Committee on Apportionment and Shurlock upon that of the House as the Cameron engineers of the scheme on the Republican side.

To cover up what was going to be done was the next thing in order. So, by an understanding the Democrats got up an Apportionment Bill so unfair in its provisions that a big noise could be made about it. This was to afford Rutan an opportunity to make his speech strongly condemning it and under the cover of this noise the Cameron engineers were to get up another bill giving the Democrats all they really claimed, and at the same time, claim it themselves as a great concession and victory to the Republicans over the Democratic bill.

The speech was made, duly published and noised about; it being understood that the Democrats were to make no reply to it, which understanding was faithfully observed. The ring neers, Rutan and Shurlock, were able then to proceed safely. Many Conferences were held apparently in great labor to bring forth a fair Apportionment, but all the time these fellows had the single end in view to fill their contract with the Democrats.

The bill which is now a law, passed. The Radical, the Cameron organ in your county, made the greatest haste to warmly endorse and recommend it, as did also the Cameron ring everywhere. It is equally noteworthy, that the Democratic organs almost without exception do the same—or at least, have nothing to say against it.

These are the facts in the case. Your correspondent has from high and indisputable sources his information. Your readers can look at these facts and think about their bearing upon your representatives at their leisure.

The necessities of the Cameron ring required the trade at the expense of the Republican party. The interests of the Democratic party were subserved by it, and your Beaver county chaps were the tools to do the work as directed by the chief Winnebago and his Adjutant Quay. There is more of this and it will come with time as it is demanded

YOURS IN TRUTH.

For the Argus.

The Press.

I say the press, as well as the pulpit and all the schools in our land and every lover of liberty and his race, should be sensible of the pressing necessity of the hour. Namely, the vast necessity and importance of the Truth as contained in the Holy Bible. Our city papers and our country papers might have in every issue, if not a column at least an article on some religious subject. And if every newspaper throughout the whole length and breadth of the country, carried a gospel message into every family who can estimate the good effects it would produce on the spiritual life of the people. Why should politics and secular matter be allowed to monopolize any of our papers. Our religious papers contain much of matter pertaining exclusively to this life also, and why do not our political papers furnish reading pertaining also to the life to come, for the benefit of their religious readers. No doubt many of our pious christians, male and female, as well as our ministers might furnish an occasional good article that would, with GOD's blessing, be a benefit to their souls. Only think of the good that the late Sanford C. Hill has done by making his popular Almanac a vehicle of so much valuable and religious truth abroad through our land, which, no doubt too, has helped to render that casual the more generally appreciated. And so it would be with our dailies, weeklies, monthlies and quarterlies, make the memory of their deceased authors forever estimable.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

SENATE, May 8.—There was nothing transpired of general interest.

HOUSE.—Several bills of a local character were passed, but none of special interest to your readers.

SENATE, May 9.—A supplement to the apportionment bill passed, giving three places of meeting at certain times, and double representative districts. Among the local bills passed was one incorporating the Beaver Mining Company; also, one to incorporate the Beaver Agricultural Bank. The House refused to concur in the Border County Claim bill, and appointed a Committee of Conference.

HOUSE.—The Border Claim Bill as amended by the House Committee, passed. A motion was made for a Committee of Conference on the Border Claims bill. An indefinite postponement—which would kill the bill—was moved, and after considerable debate was carried. A motion was made to reconsider—the object being to vote down a reconsideration, and thus defeat a future motion of that kind—but it was defeated by a tie vote. A motion to adjourn was then made and carried.

SENATE, May 10.—A bill was passed to relieve Robert Shermel from delivering to the State his great painting of the battle of Gettysburg, until the 22d of February next. Several local bills were passed.

HOUSE.—The Border Raid bill was killed for this session by a vote of 53 to 44. The Senate supplement to the apportionment bill was passed. Many private and local bills passed.

SENATE, May 11.—The appropriation bill was reported and discussed all day. The amount for Common School purposes has been reduced to $500,000. Several amendments were made.

HOUSE.—The cumulative voting bill in boroughs and townships, passed 2d reading, but failed to obtain a suspension of the rules for a final passage. A bill was introduced to regulate the mode of passing special acts of Assembly, which requires persons desiring special legislation to advertise in at least one newspaper once a week for three successive weeks, any such legislation desired before presenting the same to the legislature and to present a certificate of such publication signed by the judges of the district. In counties affected by it, all advertising is to be done at the expense of the parties desiring special legislation. The refusal of the Legislature to fix upon a day of final adjournment is exciting wonderment and comment. Legislation during the remainder of the session is very important. It is positively asserted in some quarters that the Senate will refuse to fix a day of adjournment till the Republicans give the Democrats the registry amendment. The expense of the session is greatly increasing beyond any other session. The feeling in the House is to have a recess till the Senate gets through business.

SENATE, May 12.—A message was received from the Governor urging legislation for payment of Border Claims. The Senate by a party vote, refused to discharge the Committee on vice and immorality from the further consideration of the bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in Monongahela City and New Brighton, Beaver Co. The result will be to prevent action this session—as the Committee cannot be got together. A section was added to the appropriation bill for the relief of citizens of Chambersburg and vicinity by giving them certificates of a loan bearing five per cent. to the amount of five hundred thousand dollars, to be appropriated by the State Treasurer to claimants pro rata, redeemable in five years or sooner, free from taxation; the recipients to give the State receipts in full of all claims; the Governor then to make a demand upon the general Government. This section passed with an amendment that nothing herein shall be construed to make the State in any way liable for such claims, several local bills passed.

HOUSE.—A message from the Governor, similar to that read in the Senate, was received. A bill to prohibit the sale of Academy degrees, was passed. Several local bills passed, but none of importance to the County.

SENATE, May 13.—Not in session to-day.

HOUSE.—There was nothing of interest transpired. The House adjourned until Tuesday.

SELECT MISCELLANY.

THE JUDGE'S DAUGHTER.

My story seems branded into my memory in letters of fire. It is no story conjured up by the imagination, nor yet one that needs glossing over by a fertile pen. All its incidents are real—none exaggerated.

Not many years ago a haughty old man, a judge of incorruptible morals, died, leaving behind him two children.

After his death it was found that he had not been so wealthy as many had imagined, yet rich enough to leave each daughter a moderate competence.

To the eldest sister descended the homestead and a sufficient income to keep up some of their former style; the younger twenty thousand dollars, the younger twenty thousand dollars, invested in an old and trusty bank.

From infancy Estelle, the eldest had been acquainted with a poor but proud spirited boy. She had watched his ineffectual struggles for an education such as he desired, admiring his unconquerable ambition, and as he neared manhood he became her most ardent lover.

But the old judge demurred! No daughter of his should encourage the attention of a penniless youth—their intimacy must cease.

Obedient as a child, she listened to her father's commands, and obeyed them implicitly.

He surrounded her with gay company; he did everything that wealth or taste could suggest to win her away from her boy lover. But though she uttered no complaint, he knew that she did not forget.

At last he died. He did not bind her with any promises. Perhaps in death his eyes discovered that it needs more than wealth to bring happiness.

After her bereavement, Rupert Kingsland came to her again.

"Estelle, my love," he said passionately, "it may seem wrong to you for me to come to you, now he is gone, when I know how much he was opposed to me, but, darling, you are in trouble, and I must comfort you.

She did not chide him. She believed her father must have relented, or else he would have spoken and forbidden her to receive him after his death. She went and sobbed on his bosom like a child.

"Rupert!" she said, "if you had forsaken me now, I should indeed be desolate."

"As to leave you ever will kill me," he ejaculated, impetuously. "Curse my fortune that I must forever be debarred from you?"

"Don't speak so fiercely, Rupert," she pleaded. "No one stands between us now."

"Yes, poverty stands between us as it ever did," he replied. "Never will I take advantage of his decease to step unworthily where he forbade me. If I ever could obtain my wish of becoming a great and famous physician, Estelle, then would I be proud to come to see you."

"Where would you go to become a doctor?" she queried.

"I would study in England, France and Germany," was his eager response, "To be a common-place physician would not satisfy me. I must be the equal of the most eminent."

For a moment she was silent.

"Rupert," she observed, presently, "the way is open for you at last. My money is left untouched. In no way would its use give me so much joy as to know that it was aiding you to obtain your life's desire. You shall go to England, France and Germany. Only return to me as pure as you leave me."

For a time he opposed such a suggestion. He could not accept her money. But in proportion to his unwillingness to receive, became her eagerness to bestow.

At last he consented. He would only consider it a loan, to be repaid at some future day. He would send to her as a banker, for what he required, and remain away some four or five years.

Her sister was much opposed to it when informed of what Estelle proposed to do.

"You are exceedingly unwise, Estelle," she said angrily, "to draw your capital to give to him. I doubt his goodness—I doubt his ever returning."

Estelle was wounded but not discouraged. She made him a present of a very handsome gold watch and chain, and money enough to defray all expenses incidental to his journey and first admittance to a medical school. Then he was to write to her and she would send him more.

His two years were spent in England, and he received money from her every quarter. He lived in style, even luxury; surrounded himself with everything he could wish for; and though she thought he must be extravagant in his habits, she made no inquiries, no comments.

Her sister married and went to California, and Estelle was left to watch and wait the remaining three years of his absence.

He went to Germany. He remained two years longer. The last year of his proposed absence he wrote to Estelle thus:

"My love, I do not know how to say what I wish. My five years have nearly expired. I believed I am nearing the goal, which, save for the goodness of your true and noble heart, I never should have hoped to obtain, but yet I am not satisfied. I wish to be entirely worthy of you, and all you have done for me when I do return. Oh, if I could, remain here two years longer, I might accomplish much then!"

She perused that part of his letter. Two years more! Two years of long waiting—seven years of weary waiting!

She let not even a sigh escape her lips. Her trust in him was implicit. There is a passage in holy writ which says: "There is no fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in earthly love." She knew no fear! It would be hard for him to be away two years longer, but if he desired it, she could not complain.

She had already sent him, so great had been his extravagance, every penny of her principal.

She took up her pen and wrote thus:

"Rupert, God only knows how much I long for you each day, but if it is your wish to remain away two years more, do not let me deter you. You know father did leave me as well provided for as was anticipated and now all is gone but the homestead. If you think the two years necessary. I will mortgage it."

He did not think two more years requisite, but he wrote so touchingly about her sacrifice that it seemed almost as if he was conferring a favor on her by taking it, than her on him by giving.

It was mortgaged. Every dollar she realized was sent to him. Her own servant—she had dispensed with all but one—was discharged. Then she stood alone. What was she so do?

She could not appeal to her sister; she remembered the taunts that her sister had extended her.

She went out and procured a situation as governess in a wealthy family, one of her old friends. Public indignation became intense. Judge Atherton's daughter a governess! People blamed her for her folly, but she smiled serenely. Her reward was yet to come. She believed. Rupert's fame would compensate her for all.

Two years passed away and even she could not deny to herself that she had failed greatly during that time. Then a letter came to her; it said:

"My patient dove, I am coming at last. Be ready for me in May.—Write me one more letter."

Accompanying it was a paper containing a notice of him and his great medical skill. American papers congratulated themselves upon having such a rare acquisition to the medical fraternity. She read and wept tears of joy.

He was coming at last!

"You must not be surprised," she said, in her responsive epistle, to find me much changed. I think my health has failed during the past two years quite rapidly."

Ah! to how many hearts such an announcement would have carried terror!

She knew the name of the ship in which he was to sail, and watched the slow, seemingly endless days go by.

She was full of peace and joy; he was coming—she was content. Those that knew her said her face wore the expression of an angel. Be that as it might—her heart wore the happiness of one.

She heard when the steamship arrived. They only lived twenty miles distant—sure he would come the next day. But the next day came, and the next, and the next, and he came not.

She saw his name among the arrivals; was he sick? She was tempted to go down and see, when a gentleman called upon her.

"I have seen your friend, Dr. Kingsland, in the city," he said. "He told me to inform you that he had been detained, and would soon be up."

The announcement took one pang from her heart, only to add another. He was well—she thanked God for that, but could she have been within twenty miles of him for a week without sending him some message?

That was all the reproach she allowed her gentle heart to make, while she formed a thousand excuses for his cruel neglect.

Two weeks went past, and they numbered three. Then a note came which commenced as follows:

"My dear friend, I feel as if I can say to you, through a note, that which I wish to say, better than face to face. Estelle you have been my best friend, my good samaritan, and I am sure you will rejoice at my happiness. I was married last night to Miss Morse. You remember her. A young lady, of wealth, beauty and good position in society."

She read no more. Some one in the adjoining room heard a heavy fall, and rushed in. They found her on the floor, apparently dead. They picked her up and sent for a physician.

"A severe shock," was his conclusion. She is dying of the heart disease."

She became sensible again, but her heart was utterly broken. Seven years of waiting, and then the false-hearted lover had left her—left her, after squandering her property, to die in misery!

Even then she uttered no complaints. She had all his letters, little keepsakes, and every trifle pertaining to him, brought to her. She bound them up and addressed them to him.

"After I am gone send them to him," she said.

A week later, they laid her away, and fulfilled her request.

He began to practice early, and his success was wonderful, despite the notoriety which his falsehood had brought upon him.

On the first day after he returned from Europe, Mary Morse gave a party. She made her brother promise to watch Dr. Kingsland, and bring him up with him.

"See if I don't win him from that jaded Estelle Atherton?" she exclaimed before he met her.

And she did so. His fickle heart easily proved recreant to every vow of love, every tie of honor.

Two years after, she was about to go down a flight of stairs, when she uttered a loud shriek, and fell forward to the bottom.

When she become conscious, she said:

"Estelle Atherton stood at the foot of the stairs!"

Whether it was merely a delusion of her guilty conscience or not, we can never know. Any way the fall fractured her spine, and until this day she is a miserable, repining, cross, faded invalid, frightened to be left alone for a moment. And she is conscience-stricken wretch, enduring all the pangs of earthly purgatory.

Verily, my friend is being avenged! It is God's just retribution.

A Good Word Not Lost.

Field-Marshal Alexander Suvaroff, the commander-in-chief of the Russian army during the reigns of Catharine II. and Paul I., was especially fond of mixing with the common soldiers, and sharing in their sports and conversations, being always highly delighted when his men failed to discover him; and this happened pretty often, for, thanks to his small stature and ugly face, as well as the extreme plainness of his dress the great marshal looked as little like a general as any man could do. In this way he got to understand thoroughly the character of his soldiers, and had a greater power over them than any Russian General before or after him. His marvelous power of enduring fatigue, his insensibility to heat, cold or hunger, and his untiring energy on the field of battle (in all which points he surpassed his hardiest grenadiers), made him the idol of the rough soldiers whom he commanded; and a word of reproof from Father Alexander Vasilievitch, as his men affectionately called him, was more dreaded than the fire of a battery.

Before one of his Italian campaigns, Suvaroff gathered together a number of his best men, and made one of the short and pithy speeches for which he was famous and some of which are remembered among the peasantry of this day:

"My children, we are going to fight the French. Remember, whatever you meet, you must go forward. If the enemy resist, kill them; but if they yield, spare them; and always remember that a Russian soldier is not a robber, but a Christian. Now, go and tell your comrades what I have said."

A few days later a great battle took place, in which the day went against the French, who began to retreat about sunset; and a soldier named Ivan Mitrophanoff, who had distinguished himself by his bravery throughout the whole day, captured, with the help of his comrade who was with him, a French officer and two of his men. Mitrophanoff bound up the officers wounded arm, and seeing that the prisoners appeared faint from want of food, shared with them the coarse rye loaf which was to have served him for supper. He had scarcely done so when up came three or four Russian grenadiers, hot with fighting, and raising furious cries.

"What," cried they, "three of these French dogs living yet!" and they ran upon the prisoners with leveled bayonets.

"Hold, my lads," cried Mitrophanoff. "I've given them their lives, and no one must touch them now!"

But the soldiers would not listen to him, and were rushing forward, when a stern voice from behind shouted, "Halt!" and a little, pug-nosed, dirty-faced man, dressed only in a coarse linen shirt and a pair of tattered gray trousers, stepped into the circle. But, ragged and dirty as he was, the fierce soldiers could not have looked more frightened had he been a giant in full armor.

"The general!" muttered they, slinking off.

"Ay, the general!" roared Suvaroff, who will have some of you shot, presently, if you can't learn to obey orders better! And you," he added, turning to Mitrophanoff, "who taught you to be so good?"

"Your highness' own self taught me," answered the grenadier. "I haven't forgotten what you told us last week—that a Russian soldier is not a robber, but a Christian!"

"Right!" exclaimed Suvaroff, with a brightening face. "A good word is never lost, you see. Give me your hand, my lad; you shall be a sergeant, to-morrow, and a right good one you'll make!"

And the next day he was as good as his word.

Coughs and Consumption.

DR. KEYSER.—Although not an advocate of patent medicines in general, it affords me indescribable pleasure to recommend your PECTORAL SYRUP. As a medicine, it is well worthy the attention of any person who may in any manner be afflicted with colds, coughs and hoarseness of any kind; and for its peculiar qualifications for removing all that disagreeable sensation attending severe cold.

I have been, more or less in my life, afflicted with the severest of colds and hoarseness. At times, my throat would become so closed as to prevent my speaking above a whisper, and by taking a few doses of the above syrup, it would relieve me entirely.

In recommending this medicine, I most unhesitatingly say, that it is the best remedy I ever found purporting to cure the above; nor should any family be without this remedy for diseases so prevalent. Yours, most respectfully,

EDWARD D. JONES,
Formerly Cashier of the Citizens' Bank.

Sold at 75 cents per bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S great medical office for chronic diseases, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Japanese Embassy.

Governor Ito and the Japanese embassy which has been in Washington city for the past three months, will return to Japan sometime in June. The object of their visit here was to inquire into our finances and American institutions generally. Besides the finances they have given their attention to our free school system, customs, revenue, internal revenue, commercial law and the newspaper press. Since their arrival here they have been very busy, and assiduous in their efforts to learn all they could. The Government has shown them every facility, and special pains have been taken to give them an insight into the system of government and its workings. They have been presented with a full set of our most important State papers, including of course, the writings of all our eminent men. They visite our eastern cities, from whence they will cross the continent via Chicago to San Francisco; thence by steamship to Japan.

FAMILY ALBUM.

The Pictorial Family Bible contains a storehouse of information that can only reach the mind through the eye. Its illustrations carry one back to the most important era of the world, and are of themselves a comprehensive review of the Scriptures, representing the most interesting views, Characters, Symbols, Historical Events, Landscape Scenes, Antiquities, Costumes, Beasts, Birds, Insects, Plants, Minerals, Coins, Medals, Inscriptions and Incidents referred to throughout the Sacred Text. They attract the eye, correct erroneous impressions, awaken new thoughts, and furnish clearer views of Divine Truth. As a help to Parents, Ministers and Sabbath-School Teachers in fulfilling the duties of their sacred and high vocations—and to all others to whom immortal souls are intrusted—this splendid Pictorial Volume cannot be overestimated. It is the Edition

Most Suitable for the Family,
Most Valuable for the Student,
Most Instructive for the Teacher,
Most Appropriate for the Child,
Most Useful for the Minister,
Most Interesting for the Farmer,
Most Elegant for the Parlor,
Most Profitable for the Study.

The Pictorial Family Bible, in addition to the features already alluded to, contains the Apocrypha, Concordance, Psalms in Metre, a Summary of the Sacred Truths taught in the Inspired Book, together with numerous and complete Bible Tables and other historical and explanatory Matter, embodying the labors of many of the most eminent Biblical Scholars. It is printed on the finest calendared paper, from clear and open type, is one large and handsome quarto volume, and is bound in the most durable and attractive manner, while the prices are sufficiently low to place it within everybody's reach.

Experienced Agents are wanted through out the country for sale, with such liberal arrangements as will be made. An opportunity of equal promise is rarely or never presented. Its sale will not be limited to any period, but will continue for a lifetime, constantly increasing with the growth and intelligence of the country. It is therefore desirable that those who engage with us, shall do so with a view to making the business a permanent one.

Ministers, Teachers, Students, Farmers, Young Men and Women,—those who would meet with the most profitable of all employments—are invited to correspond with us with a view to an agency. Not a few such are averaging from $5000 to $7000 annual profit in its sale. There is a great want for the book and a rich field offered, while it will elevate the spiritual condition by constant contact with and conversations upon its beautiful and eternal truths.

Agents on the Instalment Plan will be furnished the work in fine bindings. The plan is quite popular and profitable in cities and large towns. We have an edition of the book, superbly bound, with massive paneled sides, which has every where been received with marked favor. Subscriptions for the Pictorial Bible, in this style and in this way, can be obtained to an almost an unlimited extent, as there is no outlay of money that the Bible reader can make, which will yield him so rich a return.

We are also the publishers of Potter's Standard Editions of Family, Pulpit, Pocket and and Photographic Bibles and Testaments—nearly 300 different styles—so well known everywhere for their accuracy of text, beauty of finish and durability of binding.
